PLAN A MONUMENT TO GEN. "NAT" LYON

First Northern General to Fall in Civil War.

Plans for a monument to Gen. Na-thaniel Lyon, the first Northern gen-eral killed in the civil war, will be pressed before the Library Committee of Congress immediately after the holi-days. Representative Woods, of Iowa who introduced a bill to appropriate who introduced a bill to appropriate $60,000 for the purpose, said last night he hoped for favorable action by the committee within a short time after Congress reconvenes.

Gen. Lyon fell at Wilson Creek August 18, about a month after the death of Gen. Bee, the first Confederate general killed in action. Gen. Lyon's last words were commands to the First lowa Regiment to charge. He had been lay dying, he cheered the troops back to battle, with the result it is said, that he saved Missouri and the southern part of Illinois and Indiana for the Finion, for Wilson Creek was, in some respects, a declaive battle.

Gen. Lyon was a native of Connecticut and a direct descendant of the Earl of Glamis, of the noble house which plays a part in "Macheth."
